Science Café and Project Management Courses in Brno 8th February

Discussions concerning the breeding of bumblebees, applied research in bioenergetics and the presentation of science projects were the key points of the “Summer School Not Only in the Summer” program, supported by the Visegrad Fund, which took place in Brno on 9th - 10th February 2017.

"Summer School Not Only in the Summer", supported get-together activities such as Science Café, which was organised at Mendel University in Brno. Scientists, experts and participants created a great atmosphere and creative environment, and became involved in discussions about international projects.

The morning of the 8th of February was dedicated to project and financial management. Dr. Marie Kubáňková and Ing. Lucie Janečková shared their experiences with students. The following afternoon was devoted to the presentation of projects on Czech bumblebee breeding, and new types of small biogas digesters. Joint projects between university and industry were also discussed. The Science Café's discussion platform was initiated by Tibor Schuz, followed by a presentation given by Dr. Jan Nedělník, and two experts from the morning group.

The second day was dedicated to the popularisation and presentation of scientific studies and marketing. The focus of the discussion was on research and development activities. Students were also encouraged to prepare a short summary of their own projects and to present them briefly.
